Instructions –

The Linguistics Department has two courses that involve independent study: LIN 591 Directed Readings & LIN 592 Directed Research.

LIN 592 Directed Research is designed for students who want to do original research in some area.

If you have a topic you would like to explore, AND if we do not offer a course in this area, you should do the following:

Find a faculty member who is willing to supervise your work.

Fill out the proposal form (on the reverse side) stating what you will do to earn credit for the course.

Have your faculty supervisor sign the form, and return the signed form to Sandra.

Register* for LIN 592 under the section number of your faculty supervisor.

Faculty section numbers are as follows:

Mark Aronoff
Richard Larson
Ellen Broselow
07- Dan Finer
08- Dorit Kaufman
09- Marie Huffman
John Bailyn
Alice Harris
Christina Bethin
Robert Hoberman
Lori Repetti

You and your faculty supervisor will decide on your meeting schedule and the amount and type of work you will do. You can register for 1, 2, or 3 credits of directed readings or research, depending on how much time you want to put into the project. Moreover, please remember: these courses are designed for students who have a specific topic they want to explore, beyond the limits of existing courses.

* It is important to remember to have the faculty supervisor approve and sign your proposal form before you register, or you may be deregistered.
